NETTERS NOW SHOWING UP.

Landing Fares at New York, Newport and Edgartown.

CAPE SHORE FLEET SAILING.

Several Southern Seiners Harbored at Newport Yesterday.

The following netters are at New York this morning:

Sch. Priscilla, 2700 large fresh mackerel.
Sch. Louise, 2100 large fresh mackerel.
Sch. A. C. Newhall, 2500 large fresh mackerel.
Sch. Mineola, 2800 large fresh mackerel.
A special to the Times from its Newport correspondent reports the following netters there today:
Sloop Dart, 350 large fresh mackerel.
Sloop Braganza, 200 large fresh mackerel.
Sloop Torpedo, 200 large fresh mackerel.
Sloop Crescent, 350 large fresh mackerel.
Sloop Clara T., 260 large fresh mackerel.

Sloop Alice, 280 large fresh mackerel.
Sloop Caswell, 250 large fresh mackerel.
Sloop Hester, 300 large fresh mackerel.
Sch. Louis Warren, 200 large fresh mackerel.

Sloop Albert Brown, 250 large fresh mackerel.

The fish sold at 27 cents each.

The despatch also states that seiners Romance, Constellation, Hope, Illinois, Natalie J. Nelson and Harmony are there for a harbor.

A special to the Times from its Edgartown correspondent reports the following netters there yesterday:

Sloop Dolly, 1100 large fresh mackerel.
Sloop Myrtle, 300 large fresh mackerel.
Sloop Amy, 600 large fresh mackerel.

These fish were all very large, one of them weighing five pounds, and were caught on the south side of Martha's Vineyard off the Yellow banks, in one night's set.

Several more seiners are home from south this morning to fit for the Cape Shore, among them schs. Elizabeth Silsbee, Norma, Hattie M. Graham, Aloha, Pinta, Patrician, Rob Roy, Arthur James, Miranda and Arabia. Thus far 29 of the fleet have come home from south to fit for Cape Shore.

Sch. Norma, Capt. Benjamin McGray, stocked $312 as the result of her recent southern seining trip.

Sch. Ingomar, Capt. Wallace Parsons, high line of the southern seining fleet, stocked $7628.34 on the trip, the crew making the fine share of $166.85.

Quite a number of the seiners will sail for the Cape Shore today.

WELL TO SOUTHWARD.

Sch. Actor Got Mackerel at Five Fathom Lightship.

Capt. Nolan Thinks the Outlook for Netters Is Good.

A special to the Times from New York this afternoon from its Fulton Market correspondent states that the netting sch. Actor, which is in today with such a large trip, caught her fish well to the southward. The craft left New York last Thursday in the face of a heavy northeast storm and worked down to off Five Fathom Bank lightship, where she set her nets on Friday night. That night 500 fish were taken and they were strung out again Saturday, when 2200 mackerel were caught. On Sunday 2400 fish were taken and the craft hustled to market, reaching there this forenoon. This shows that the fish are still well to the southward and Capt. Nolan considers the prospect good.

The netting sch. Priscilla is at New York this afternoon with 500 fresh mackerel and sch. Taylor, another of the netters, is there with 700 mackerel.

May 19.

FROM ANTICOSTI.

Sch. Senator Home with Biggest Halibut Trip of Season.

Had Good Weather and Got Fresh Bait at Magdalenes.

Sch. Senator, Capt. George Marr, is in port this morning with the largest fresh halibut trip of the season, 50,000 pounds of new fish. The schooner has only been out a month, which makes her big trip all the better.

The fine trip was secured off the north coast of Anticosti in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, a favorite halibut ground after the ice leaves the gulf. The schooner baited at the Magdalene Islands, the first of the present month and then secured her fare in a few days fishing, so her fish must be in prime order.

Capt. Marr reports speaking schs. Tacoma and Atlanta on the Anticosti grounds and they were having good weather. Off Liverpool, N. S., a few days ago, he passed sch. Fannie A. Smith, Capt. Joseph Bonia, so that craft will soon be in.

May 20.

FROM LONG TRIP.

Sch. Fannie A. Smith Arrived Home Yesterday.

Has Been Gone Sixteen Weeks on a Fresh Halibut Trip.

Sch. Fannie A. Smith, Capt. Joseph Bowie, arrived home yesterday from an unusually long trip. The vessel is engaged in fresh halibuting and sailed from here January 29, so that 16 weeks have elapsed since her departure.

Capt. Bowie has certainly been up against it. First along he struck the long spell of bad weather in February and March, when fishing was out of the question most of the time. Determined to have a fare, however, he refitted instead of coming home, and after that found fish scarce, flitching what he caught.

He stuck to it, however, and was the first vessel to reach the Magdalen Islands and get a fresh herring baiting, which he did May 1. He then hustled to the fishing grounds off Anticosti, and here he was rewarded for his patience and long waiting, securing a fine fare of 45,000 pounds of halibut and a few cod. These with the fitchers made a good catch and Capt. Bonia headed his vessel for home.

May 20.

FISHERY CONGRESS.

Postmaster Brown Requested To Cooperate in Enlightening Delegates.

Postmaster Charles D. Brown has received one of the circular letters calling attention to the International Fishery Congress which will be held at Washington in September and the fact that the delegates will be given a three days opportunity to visit this city and look over the various fishing establishments here, and has been requested to cooperate in the effort to give the delegates a good impression of Gloucester, and to suggest ways and means of entertaining them. Mr. Brown in his reply to the acting secretary general will suggest that the Board of Trade, Business Men's Association and city government unite in a common effort for the entertainment of the delegates while in this city.

WITH BIG FARE.

Sch. Richard First Home of the Fresh and Salt Fleet.

Gone Little Over a Month and Struck Good Fishing.

Sch. Richard, Capt. Donald McCoish, one of the fresh and salt codfishing fleet, which usually fishes on the Peak and off Cape North and Scatteri, arrived this morning with a big fare, 180,000 pounds of fresh cod and 30,000 pounds of salt cod, being the first of his fleet to arrive home this season.

Sch. Richard has made a quick trip of it, too, for she sailed from here on April 15, so she has been gone less than five weeks. The craft must have struck good fishing to have secured such a good trip in such short order.

The schooner did not go to the Peak, but fished first at Cape North, not striking very big fishing until after getting a fresh baiting at the Magdalen islands, after which returning to the Cape North grounds they did better and also had good fishing off Scatteri.

May 21.

GASOLINE BLEW UP.

Crew of Pacific Halibuter Had Long Row for Life.

Former Gloucester Fishermen Believed To Have Been on Craft.

The gasoline sch. Clara T., of Tacoma, Washington, a well known fishing craft, was blown up off Cape Scott on the night of April 19. Captain Hanson and his crew of eleven men barely escaped with their lives. The shipwrecked men reached Scarlet Point light in their dories after rowing 50 miles in an utterly exhausted condition. They were picked off from there and brought to Tacoma by the Vancouver halibut steamer Celestial Empire and every attention was given them by Capt. Freeman of that vessel. The Clara C. was of 46 tons and fitted with a 60-horse power gasoline engine. She was owned by Capt. Hansen and Chris Carlson, and was valued at $10,000. She was a total loss, there being no insurance.

It is understood that some former Gloucester fishermen, who left here a few years ago, were on the craft which was blown up.
